

The Psychology of Intelligence Analysis

Description

This 5-day course is designed to introduce the fundamental understanding of the psychology of intelligence analysis. It will discuss the actions normally used within the thinking process, mental tools used for better intelligence thinking, and cognitive skills and potential biases within the intelligence analysis process. Points will also be raised upon how intelligence analysis can be improved on and what psychological standards one should look for in a human resource selection process.

Prerequisites

Little to no exposure in Geospatial Intelligence operations needed

Target Audience

Mid to High level managers and supervisors within a Geospatial Intelligence Organization

Method of Delivery

Lessons and Hands-on Exercises

Course Materials

- ✦ Hard Copy and Digital materials including:
  - Lesson Presentation Handouts

